Olson, Mattson Boy Kidnap Suspect, Shot And Killed by Posse

HAYWARD, Wis., June 29 (INS)—Ray Olson, sought by hundreds of posemen through Wisconsin's north woods since June 17 when he mudered two sheriff's deputies, was shot and killed today when trapped at the edge of Lake Namakagon.

He fell in a hail of bullets and died within a few minutes. Before he died he murmured:

"Turn me over on my back, boys."

Three men trapped in the line of fire narrowly escaped death.

Ray Olson

Olson had been "positively identified" as the kidnap-slayer of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, according to Sheriff George Seehoetter.

The posemen had flattened themselves against the ground as they spied Olson rowing toward shore in a boat he had stolen a few hours earlier.

As he stepped ashore, several deputies cried out:

"Surrender, Olson!"

With a curse, the fugitive turned and made for a nearby thicket.

A dozen rifles spoke. A dozen bullets struck Olson in the back.

The deputies and posemen raced up to the dying woodeman-killer. Beside him lay the rifle he had

Broadcast Warns Nazis of War If They Attempt to Seize Danzig

WARSAW, June 29 (INS)—The sovereign government of Poland served notice upon Adolf Hitler today that he cannot take the Polish Corridor nor close this nation's outlet to the sea without the struggle that is destined to plunge all Europe into war.

In a nationwide broadcast on the occasion of Poland's "Day of the Sea," commemorating creation of the Corridor, President Ignace Moscicki reaffirmed in strongest possible terms this nation's rights and prerogatives in the Free City of Danzig.

"Poland," he said, "is determined to remain upon the Baltic for all eternity.

"Danzig has been connected with Poland for centuries," he said. "It is the desire of Poland to remain connected with Danzig for all time to come.

"My government desires that there shall be cooperation between Danzig and Gdynia (Poland's own port on the Baltic) in the interests of peaceful trade. Through these two ports

Democrats Reject Bloom Bill Changes See 50-Vote Win

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 29 (INS)—Heartened by a canvass indicating a 50-vote margin for passage, Democratic leaders today rejected demands for further modification of the Bloom bill repealing mandatory embargo provisions of the neutrality act and prepared to hold the House in session tonight to force a final vote on the measure.

Majority Leader Rayburn announced the plan for a night session, asserting that neutrality legislation would be disposed of to clear the decks for consideration tomorrow of conference reports on money bills which must be passed by midnight Friday—end of the fiscal year.

In a last-minute secret meeting on the legislation that is due to touch off bitter debate when it reaches the Senate, Democratic members of the House foreign affairs committee turned down demands for further concessions in the already tempered Bloom bill.

This action followed a report by the Democratic whip's organization that its canvass indicated passage of the bill in its present form by 50 votes.

BITTER CHARGES

Bitter charges were made as the fight approached a climax. Foes charged that passage of the bill would entangle America in a European war. Sponsors insisted it would promote peace.

Two outstanding issues faced the House in its action on the bill. They are:

Shall Congress repeal the law which places a mandatory embargo on shipment of arms and munitions to warring nations?

Shall Congress grant wide discretionary power to the President in permitting trade in war weapons and supplies?

While administration leaders had capitulated in the face of fierce opposition by drastically revising the bill, foes charged that it still contained vast discretionary power under which a President could take sides in a world conflict.

"JOKER," SAYS VORYS

Representative John M. Vorys (R) of Ohio touched off a new fight by declaring that the measure, in spite of modification, contains a "joker" under which the President could favor one country over another.

The "joker," he charged, is contained in a revised credit section which limits loans to foreign nations for purchase of war materials to 90 days.

"Under the Bloom bill," said Vorys, "even with the four so-called administration amendments in it, the President could authorize the sale of arms to one belligerent on credit, while requiring cash from another belligerent.

"The President could stop a shipment of arms or 'supplies' to one belligerent, when he suspected but could not prove, that the shipment was going to a supply ship or tender, by requiring a prohibitive bond under section 7, while at the same time permitting another belligerent to obtain

PROBERS REVEAL CASH PAID TO PURCHASE PARDONS HERE

Through "evidence already heard and facts already collected," the special commission probing pardons and paroles is convinced that money was paid for release of prisoners.

This was revealed today as the commission filed its first partial report and sought $10,000 in additional funds to carry on its work as well as extension of its study to December 1. The appropriation order was filed with the clerk of the House.

In the preliminary report the commission said it is "satisfied that for the past several years it was common rumor among the inmates of our penal institutions that a pardon could not be obtained except by the payment of money and that innocent or ignorant relatives or friends of certain prisoners have paid money for the purpose of procuring pardons, where the pardons of such prisoners were either justified or unjustified."

BOARD OVERRULED

"In many cases," the report continues, "pardons were granted by the chief executive without any request to the parole board for its opinion on the merits of the case and without notice to the attorney-general, district attorney or justice, as provided by law.

"In other cases, such pardons of persons guilty of most serious crimes have been granted against the advice of the parole board and over the objections of the heads of the Department of Correction and Penal Institutions and prosecuting authorities."

Meanwhile, the commission has invited two former governors to appear and give testimony relative to pardons and pardes granted in their administrations.

Formal letters of invitation were sent to former Governors Allen and Ely, also to Executive Councillors Frank A. Brooks of Concord and Bayard Tuckerman of Hamilton, setting the week of July 10 as the period for their appearances.

MORE FUNDS ASKED

The letters were sent after the commission received word from the four expressing their willingness to testify before the board.

The move for additional funds was seen on the way after a conference between Representative George A. Parker, vice-chairman of the commission, and Henry D. Wiggin, House counsel.

When the special commission was created, $10,000 was asked to cover expenses of the pardons investigation but only $2000 was appropriated, on the understanding more money would be provided if necessary.

New Bishop Blesses Mother at Elevation

Above the head of his 81-year-old mother as she knelt in the front pew, Bishop Richard J. Cushing gave his first blessing today after he had been consecrated auxiliary bishop of Boston in impressive services at Holy Cross Cathedral.

Robed in white and wearing white gloves, on the backs of which were gold crosses, the newly consecrated auxiliary bishop left the altar and in the still hush made the sign of the cross above the bowed and silvery head of his aged mother.

Then he proceeded up the aisle of the cathedral and back again to the altar, giving as he walked his blessing for the congregation that jammed the edifice.

More than 500 nuns and members of the clergy either took part in or attended the colorful rites.

On the altar itself, in addition to Bishop Cushing, were Cardinal O'Connell, four bishops, 11 monsignori and 20 priests.

Seated in the family pews forward were Bishop Cushing's two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Cushing of South Boston and Mrs. Richard Pierce of Brighton; two aunts, Mrs. Mary Kenneally and Mrs. James Dahill of South Boston; two uncles, John and Thomas Dahill; three nieces, the Misses Ann, Mary and Roberta Cushing, and a nephew, Richard Francis.

Proudest of all in the cathedral, however, was the aged woman from Farragut road, South Boston —Bishop Cushing's mother.

The aged woman saw the open Book of Gospels laid across the broad shoulders of her son and solemn imposition of hands by William Cardinal O'Connell and the co-consecrators, Bishop John B. Peterson, D. D., and Bishop Thomas A. Emmet, S. J.

CARDINAL SAYS MASS

Also in the huge clerical gathering was Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, whom Bishop Cushing is succeeding as auxiliary to the Cardinal, Assignment of Bishop Cushing as parish priest at Sacred Heart Church, Newton, the former post of Archbishop Spellman before his elevation, also has been announced.

Bishop Cushing took his post at the main altar with Cardinal O'Connell as celebrant of low mass. Also GRANDMA FIGHTS TO STAY IN U. S.

Bitterness and tears and threatened exile from her homeland of more than half a century seemed today the tragic and unmerited result of unselfish love which a lonely, white-haired Charlestown grandmother lavished on an unfortunate young granddaughter.

The grandmother, 76-year-old Mrs. Harriet Alice Thompson of Sullivan street, Charlestown, came to the United States from England in 1888.

Married three times here and finally widowed, she bore three children, all American citizens.

FACES DEPORTATION

Yet today she was sadly contemplating a U. S. Immigration Department order, giving her three months to leave this country—or be deported at the end of that period.

And, rightly or wrongly, she blamed her plight upon her own daughter—the one of all others she supposedly might have expected to rally loyally to her defense.

The daughter's affection turned to enmity, aged Mrs. Thompson said, when the former's child was placed in the older woman's custody, under an arrangement made through the Boston Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Grandmother Thompson and the granddaughter, 17-year-old Bernice Elizabeth Gray, are facing the future apprehensively but bravely.

Dollar Bill Support Won by President

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

WASHINGTON, June 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt today won from administration leaders in the House a pledge that the lower branch of Congress would stand firm against the Senate's efforts to curb the President's emergency powers over the nation's monetary system.

Particularly, the administration leaders told the President at a White House conference, they would oppose Senate provisions of monetary legislation which bar further devaluation of the dollar.

As the President took personal command of the fight to save the New Deal's monetary policies, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau issued an ominously phrased statement that "anything can happen" if the Senate curbs the President's power to devalue.

The battle between the President and the Senate, raging from Capitol Hill to the White House, gained the proportion of the major engagement of the second New Deal administration.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, speaking for the administration, charged that the Senate's drastic restrictions on the President's money powers would mean a return to the dark days of 1933.

So, the secretary warned with emphasis, farmers and business men of the country had better "start worrying about the dollar."

While Secretary Morgenthau discussed the effects of the monetary situation another high official of the Treasury disclosed that in December last the United States had forced Great Britain to abandon a plan for devaluing the pound.

Britain sought to do this, the official said, in an effort to gain the advantage of a cheaper currency in world trade.

Great Britain indicated its plan in secret conversation with this country, according to this official, but it was blocked by the fact that the President had the power to devalue the dollar to meet Britain's threat to American foreign trade.

Eleven Arabs Slain In Holy Land Clashes

JERUSALEM, June 29 (AP)—Eleven Arabs were slain and five wounded, authorities said by identified Jews, in six incidents today in the neighborhood of the Jewish city Tel Aviv.

As a consequence of the shootings, all traffic to and from Tel Aviv, Rehovoth and Petah Tikvah was prohibited from Thursday noon until 4 p. m. Friday.

HOW'S ABOUT IT?—Bearing placards, these Cambridge kiddies marched on Cambridge City Hall for conference with Mayor John W. Lyons, presenting a plea that Jerry's Pit, recently barred to them be used as swimmin' hole. Mayor Lyons gave his permission.

2-CENT GAS TAX BOOST FLAYED BY TRUCK MEN

Increased gasoline taxes will drive innumerable trucking concerns out of business, E. C. Benway of the Motor Truck Club of Massachusetts warned today in attacking Governor Saltonstall's proposal for an additional tax on motor fuel.

At a State House hearing on the governor's plan to add $50,000,000 to state revenues in the next two years, Benway spoke for truck owners, while Sidney S. von Loesecke, of the Automobile Legal Association, spoke for motorists.

The latter charged that the tax burden on automobiles has been increased 110 per cent since 1927 in contrast to real estate taxes, that have risen only 19 per cent.

Representative Ralph Maher, of Orange, was the sole supporter of the tax plan, which also includes proposals to add a 2 cents a package tax on cigarettes, increase income taxes, excises on liquor, and to increase the state's share on dog race betting. Today was the third devoted to hearings on the bill.

CALLS AUTOS TAX BUTT

Benway asserted that the annual profit per truck of the 1600 members of his organization approximates $500 to $600. Any increases in gasoline costs must necessarily, he stated, come out of such meager profits, driving small operators to the wall.

He added that members of his organization own trucks valued at $18,000,000; that they have obtained 26,000 signatures to protests over the planned tax, and that the tax, if it goes through, will increase truck operating costs by approximately $2,250,000 per year.

He was followed by John F. Curran, president of the club, who spoke on similar lines, and then came Von Loesecke.

Automobiles, he stated, "have been the butt for tax assessors ever since they started out as rich men's toys.

"No one can dispute that the motorist is carrying far too much of the burden," he stated. "Automobile taxes have been increased by 110 per cent since 1927, while real estate taxes, in the same period, have only been increased by 19 per cent.

MANY JOIN PROTEST

"Has it been that automobile taxes are too easy to collect? Have we been too apathetic?"

Representative Maher pointed out that new revenues are absolutely essential, asserting that unless the burden is taken from real estate property valued at $1,500,000,000 faces economic chaos.

The gasoline tax, he said, is relied upon to give between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 the first year, when the added rate will be 2 cents a gallon, and $6,000,000 the second year, starting next June, when it will be reduced to 1 cent a gallon. The tax is now 3 cents per gallon.

Maher asserted that in some western states the gas tax is already 5 cents a gallon, with added taxation planned.

Seeks to Free '2 Gun' Husband

SALEM, June 29—Divorce from a "two-gun" husband, who allegedly threatened her life, was sought here today by Mrs. Helen Makerewicz, attractive Salem mother.

She told Judge John A. Costello her husband practiced marksmanship with two guns in the cellar of their home.

"He said he was going to shoot me and my mother and then go to Texas with our little son," she testified.

She said he showed her a fake $1000 bank account to win her consent to marriage.

Red Flag Flies On Air Tower

High above the speedway in Brighton a brilliant red flag flew today, flaunting all who would dare remove it.

The flag, apparently a simple pain banner, was attached to a red light some 150 feet up the 230-foot radio transmitting tower of Station WCOP.

Hours after it was discovered no volunteer had stepped forward to climb the lofty tower and remove it.

First reports that it bore a Nazi swastika were disproved, and police now believe it was placed there by youthful pranksters.

RED TAPE SPLITS FAMILY—Learning that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McNeil, charged with living intermittently in the U. S. and Canada must be deported with two of their children, Mrs. Dorothy M. BLONDE WIG CLUE IN COAST KILLING

HOLLYWOOD, June 29 (AP)—Police studied two clues today—a blond wig and an apartment key—as they groped for a link between the brutal and sordid slayings of a young dancer and an elderly actress.

ANYA SOSOYEVA
Slayer Still at Large

The clues were found on the blood-stained bed with the body of Margaret Campbell, 56, silent screen player and more recently a dramatics instructor at Los Angeles City College. She was killed early Monday with a hammer.

The key bore the number "208"—which is that of the apartment occupied by Anya Sosoyeva, blonde Russian dancer bludgeoned to death on the college campus last February 24.

Miss Sosoyeva roommate, Beulah Stanle,, told investigators at that time that a key to their suite had disappeared. Officers said the one found in Miss Campbell's room does not now fit the door. They were checking to determine if locks had been changed.

Homicide Bureau Capt. Dalton R. Patton indicated that the blond wig might be of particular importance. Chief characteristic of the Sosoyeva slayer, said a witness who saw him flee, was a shock of blond hair.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Campbell's son, Campbell McDonald, 25-year-old student, was still missing. Police have ordered his arrest for questioning. He and his mother occupied the same apartment and neighbors said he had not been seen since Sunday.

Repeal Jobless Tax on Workers

Workers' contributions of one per cent of "heir pay to the unemployment compensation fund were repealed by the Legislature today and sent to Governor Sultonstall for signature.

Passage of the legislation came after the Republican leadership in the Senate lost a fight to extend for two years the suspension of the tax declared by the 1938 Legislature and which would have ended tomorrow.

Then he was placed, alone, in a detention room. He pried loose a heavy wire screen, dropped 20 feet to the pavement that runs between the court and the Charlestown police station, and fled.

Police said the youth had escaped previously from the Shirley School.

DOROTHY LAMOUR
Can't Recall Kiss

Dotty Calls That Kiss 'All Bosh!'

NEW YORK, June 29—Dorothy Lamour, who was described in Los Angeles courtroom testimony as being warmly embraced by Myrl Alderman and kissed by him, too, was indignant and voluble about the matter today.

"Nonsense," she said tartly. "It is not only fantastic, but untrue."

Miss Lamour, who is here at the Sherry-Netherlands Hotel, said she knew Alderman professionally, as do "about a hundred other artists in Hollywood."

SHE KNEW ALDERMAN

"Myrl Alderman was employed by NBC as a standby pianist," she continued, "and he worked with various singers in rehearsal. I was one of them.

"Naturally I knew the men in the band and I knew him, too. After I went on a sponsored program Mr. Alderman continued to work with me in rehearsal.

CALLS KISS 'BOSH'

"At no time did I ever have an appointment with him.

"I just can't understand why I had to be singled out from 75 or 100 people.

"If the bartender said Mr. Alderman kissed me it's just bosh, and not true.

"I do not remember ever having kissed or embraced Mr. Alderman," Miss Lamour added. "If I did so, it was purely a gesture of affectionate appreciation for his professional help as my accompanist."

DOROTHY LAMOUR KISSED BY MYRL

LOS ANGELES, June 29 (AP)—Dorothy Lamour, she of the Sarong, was listed today among the women in Myrl Alderman's life.

And of equal interest to spectators at the $150,000 love theft trial of his former wife, Alma Alderman, against his present mate, Ruth Etting, was the identification at long last of the mysterious "Annabelle," of whom one witness said:

"Ah, she is very beautiful."

Miss Lamour, screen actress now in New York on a personal appearance tour, was mentioned by George L. Roberts, bartender at a Hollywood grotto.

SAW DOROTHY KISSED

Bernard Cohen, Miss Etting's attorney, for several days has been engaged in compiling a list for the jury of Alderman's feminine companions about the time he and Alma tiffed two years ago.

In this connection, he asked Roberts:

"Did you ever see Alderman with Dorothy Lamour?"

"Yes," replied the bartender, "several times."

It was, he went on, in the place where he worked, next door to broadcasting studios (NBC) where in 1937 Miss Lamour was singing frequently.

"Did you ever see him kiss her?" Cohen queried.

"Yes, sir."

"Did he kiss her on the lips?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did she say?"

"SURE SEEMED TO LIKE IT"

"I don't know, but she sure seemed to like it."

Roberts added that there were others whom Alderman brought into the grotto.

"Did he kiss them?" asked Cohen.

"Sure."

"What did he call them? What were their names?"

"The only names I heard him call them were 'Honey' and 'Dearie.'"

Roberts looked at a picture of Miss Etting and identified her as Alderman's companion on one occasion. He remarked that she was the only one the pianist did not kiss.

Identification of "Annabelle," mentioned earlier as the girl Alderman had said he would marry when he divorced Alma, came from Martin Seligar, a music copyist.

He said Annabell's last name was Valde and that she is an actress. He added that he met her one night in Alderman's apartment.

Pastor Who Wed Duke Officiates on Roller Skates

HOLLYWOOD, June 29 (AP)—The Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, vicar who married Britain's former King Edward and Wallis Warfield Simpson, tonight will officiate at a "roller skate wedding."

He said he would don skates himself to perform the ceremony for Gloria Grace Brodine, 18, and Richard Leighton Morris, 23, who met when they collided while skating.

The Rev. Jardine recently disclosed that he was in financial straits because English and American churches had boycotted him for marrying Edward and twice-divorced Mrs. Simpson.

Bread Strike Peace Seen in Vote Today

Breadless breakfasts were the lot of many Greater Boston families today as striking bakery truck drivers voted on peace terms designed to end the dispute which has hampered deliveries in eastern Massachusetts.

Regardless of the outcome of the vote, deliveries of products from 37 major baking companies will be held up another day at least, as the first shift of truck drivers indicated they will not be back at work until 3 a. m. tomorrow, if the strike is settled.

More than 200 members of Local 491, Bakery Drivers Union, conferred this morning at Convention hall, St. Botolph street, Back Bay, and decided to open the polls at 6 tonight for a vote on the settlement plan.

They ballot on a peace proposal, drawn up at a conference with the state arbitration board, by which they will gain an increase in pay averaging $3 a week.

Pending the counting of votes, picket lines were withdrawn, and roving pickets called back from duty. With the end of the trouble in sight 5000 bakers and other inside workers went back to work today.

The strike did not affect the big chain grocery companies, which have their own bakeries or hold separate contracts with the union. Small independent bakers likewise were not affected.

A companion strike of 500 members of the Bakers and Confectionery Workers' Union in Cambridge has been settled, and the bakers are back at work.

HUB LEADERS SEE BLOOM BILL AS BREEDER OF WAR

The Bloom anti-neutrality bill, now before Congress, stood condemned today by three prominent Bostonians, as "a war breeder." Opposition to the proposed law was shown to be bitter and widespread in Boston and throughout New England.

Protests are being voiced by women's clubs and by patriotic and veterans' organizations.

The consensus was that the proposed measure, instead of serving as an agency of neutrality, would actually have the opposite effect and expose the nation to constant and unnecessary peril.

Among the critics, were veterans of the World War who fought and bled on foreign soil, thousands of whose comrades made the supreme sacrifice or were maimed for life.

Women opponents feared the dangerous effect of such legislation on the peace of the country and for the safety of their men.

Wilfred E. Jacobs, newly-elected commander of the state department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, said:

"On its face the Bloom neutrality bill would increase our national hazard, in that it would tend to make enemies now friendly or neutral to the United States, when without such legislation we would not be compelled to undergo such danger.

"In other words it would multiply our troubles, which isn't sound policy when we have so many problems confronting us at home. It would give the President too much power in deciding vital issues which should be left to the Congress.

"Abandonment of the present ban on arms exports would put us directly in line of foreign conflict because the countries who are permitted to buy our war supplies would consider themselves our allies and would court or even demand our aid, while nations unable to purchase arms would become our enemies, as was demonstrated in the World War.

"We Americans don't want any more of such needless foreign entanglements. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and veterans' organizations generally are striving for peace just now, and crying down anything tending to promote war, especially a war to help foreign nations. In our opinion, the Bloom neutrality bill would prove a breeder of wars."

DISLIKE TONE

Eugene C. Sheehan, commander of the Disabled American Veterans, said:

"The Bloom bill looks like another step in the direction of needless foreign alliances. We dislike its general tone. It seems like a measure which could get us into trouble under circumstances which we are not compelled to face.

"It goes too far when it would give the President the power, after making a neutrality proclamation, to authorize sale of arms to one foreign nation and deny sale to another, and permit our ships to enter the ports of one belligerent nation and bar them from entering the ports of another belligerent nation.

"It doesn't require a strong imagination to see the peril that would arise from such a stand by the head of our nation. We would have to be rabidly partisan in delegating such unusual power, which would automatically rob us of any ethical claim to neutrality."

WOMEN OPPOSED

Miss Florence Birmingham, president of the Massachusetts Women's Political Club, said:

"The members of our organization oppose the Bloom neutrality bill because it would tie the United States up too dangerously with foreign powers, who as history proves, are always too eager to have our country share their burdens and pay their bills.

"With memory keen relative to unpaid war loans we should be careful about putting our head into another yoke and should not get off the highway that leads to peace."

BLOOM BILL JOKER EXPOSED

arms and supplies under exactly similar circumstances."

Vorys planned to move to strike out this discretionary authority from the bill.

MEANS WAR, SAYS TINKHAM

Acting Chairman Bloom, of the foreign affairs committee, was optimistic over chances of passage of the bill.

"It will pass," he said. "It will pass because members believe that it will promote peace. If you can show me any amendment that will help to keep this country out of war, I'll be for it."

Representative Tinkham (R.) of Massachusetts, who predicted the World War before it broke out in 1914, assailed repeal of the prohibition against shipping arms to warring nations.

"I am thoroughly convinced that if this bill is approved and finally becomes law, it means war for the United States," said Tinkham.

Representative Luther Johnson, Texas, declared that "the bill will pass because the House is convinced that it will do more under existing conditions to promote peace than the present law."

The administration is making a strong drive to line up Democratic members. Democratic county leaders in New York, it was learned, used the long distance telephone to force members in line after defections were noted in the New York delegation. Representative Kennedy (D.) of New York, however, refused to yield.

"I believe that the mandatory arms embargo has developed in the minds of the people a sense of security," he said. "If we repeal it without good reason, the public will be aroused to the fear of impending war."

Democratic leaders received support from Representatives Wadsworth and Barton, New York Republicans, and were confident of receiving many Republican votes.

Compromise proposal by Barton, which would limit the embargo to lethal weapons, was, however, rejected by Bloom. He said the committee had discussed and rejected Barton's proposal.

Woman in 15-Foot Plunge

Shrieking in terror as she lost her balance while adjusting a bedroom window today, Mrs. Helen McCafirey, 29, attractive brunette, plunged more than 15 feet from her apartment in Worcester street, South End.

Horrified neighbors called police, and cruising cars, an ambulance and special service radio patrol car raced to the house, where they found her limp and unconscious form twisted into a narrow areaway directly beneath the window.

She was rushed to City Hospital. Doctors said she was not critically injured but that she would be held until a more complete diagnosis could be made.

Although unconscious when found in the areaway, Mrs. McCaffery regained consciousness shortly after admission to the hospital. She told police she lost her balance, gripped wildly for a supporting beam, then crashed into the roof of an adjoining shed and plummeted into the narrow areaway.

TROOPER SEEN DRINKING AFTER SLAYING 'DOLL GIRL'

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 29—Only a few hours after he shot and killed 14-year-old Joan Stevens, so-called "doll girl," Corporal Benjamin Franklin, of the state motor police, it was declared today, was seen drinking at a bar in Summit Hill, three miles from the scene of the slaying.

With Franklin that afternoon was Michael Kordilla, Nesquehoning undertaker, to whose establishment the corporal rushed the dead child before the town became aware of the killing.

This was revealed by two residents of Nesquehoning who had met Kordilla in another bar a few days after the shooting and to whom he had told the details of how he and Franklin spent the afternoon.

Joan Stevens

Kordilla, they said, also told them of Franklin's explanation immediately after he had riddled the child with eight shots from his borrowed automatic.

"Frankin and I," they said he told them, "went horseback riding that afternoon and stopped off for a few drinks. Later, when I fell off my horse, we stopped off at Summit Hill and drank some more.

"That night, after Franklin brought the kid into my place, he told me about it. He said that once Joan reached into her handbag while she was sitting in the back of the car, she took out something shiny. Franklin said he asked her what it was.

"She said it was only a lipstick. Franklin looked at it and saw that that's what it was.

"Apparently Franklin, although he might have been suspicious of the lipstick, made no attempt then to search the child's bag but merely contented himself with looking over the lipstick container.

"It's just a lot of fuss over an accident. Later when she took out her gun (a toy) Franklin shot her."

Since the case attained nation-wide prominence due, mostly, to the secret methods of the law enforcement officials, it is declared few witnesses are willing to come forward to testify against Franklin.

House Gives $75,000 More to WPA Probe

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The House quickly voted another $75,000 for continuing its WPA investigation today and simultaneously sped the $1,808,300,000 relief bill toward final enactment.

Both steps were the first order of business when the chamber convened an hour earlier than usual. The Senate, after more than 14 hours of continuous debate, had passed the big relief bill at an early hour today by a 55-0 vote.

Brought before the representatives, they promptly sent the measure to a conference committee for adjusting differences. Democratic Leader Rayburn predicted it would become law before the fiscal year-end at midnight tomorrow.

The additional $75,000 of investigating money went to the appropriations committee, which had $3000 of a previous fund remaining. The committee will report to the next session.

BREAK RECORD

The Senate meeting which began at noon yesterday was the longest of the session.

Aware that a compromise must be reached with a $1,735,000,000 House bill before midnight tomorrow if all relief is not to be suspended, administration leaders drove the chamber relentlessly through an almost interminable series of amendments up to the final ballot at 2:05 a. m., Boston time.

Hours before debate on the bill had developed into a Marathon, the Senate voted 43-32 against a $500,000,000 allocation for PWA and voted 38 to 38 against half that sum.

DEBATE LIMITED

After Senator Reynolds, (D.) of North Carolina, had started a lengthy argument at dinner time over a proposed appropriation for the WPA theater project, contending it was "spreading Communist propaganda," the leadership clamped on a strict debate limitation which brought staccato action on proposal after proposal through the evening.

Spending forces succeeded in increasing by $40,000,000 the House allocation of $123,000,000 for the farm security administration, boosted the national youth administration allotment by $23,000,000, and won a 43-19 majority for $10,000,000 extra in farm tenancy loans.

The chamber also approved an amendment by Senator Russell (D.) of Georgia, doubling a $300,000 allowance for public health service administrative expenses.

The Senate agreed to permit expenditure of ¾ of 1 per cent of the total appropriated for projects sponsored solely by WPA, thus providing funds for such projects as the federal theater, art and music projects without local sponsorship.

Finds Women Like Flattery Of Mexicans

NEW YORK, July 27—American women travelling in Mexico, who pride themselves on their super-intellectuality, usually come off second best when they run up against the upper-class Mexican male, writes Carleton Beals in an article, "Ambassadresses of Ill Will," in the July issue of Town and Country.

The upper-class Mexican has been schooled in good manners from birth, and he probably is better educated than the corresponding class in the United States, Beals states. But the true secret, perhaps, of the Mexican's social success is that he knows perfectly well when to be a gentleman, and when not to be one.

"The Mexican has studied feminine psychology far more carefully than most of our own males," says Beals. "He may be a rotten lover, as has been said of the Cubans, but he is usually clever. It is part of his tradition to tell all women they are beautiful or attractive or intelligent.

"Flattery and romantic nonsense for women is part of the required etiquette even in the best circles. And how the American women eat it up!"

One N. E. Senator For Lending Plan

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Only one of New England's 12 senators supports President Roosevelt's program to lend $3,000,000,000 during the next seven years to stimulate business and relieve unemployment.

The lone supporter of the proposal is Senator Green (D.) of Rhode Island.

Of the three Democratic senators up for re-election next year, only Senator Gerry (D.) of Rhode Island registered his opposition, while Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts and Maloney (D. Conecticut declined to comment on the program until they had seen it in legislative draft.

JAPS SEIZE LAST 2 MAJOR PORTS

SHANGHAI, June 29 (AP)—The Japanese blockaded Foochow and Wenchow, coastal and recently rich centers of the last major Chinese ports along more than 2000 miles of coastline between Hongkong and Shanghai, went into effect at 1 a.m. today. The warning had been issued by the United States consul at Foochow, L. Clarence Cosner, who said Japanese authorities had informed him that Japan would be held responsible for any damages to American property in the blockaded area.

Most of the residents of Foochow and Wenchow were said to be remaining at their posts. Wenchow and 18 missionaries, including Americans, were reported to have left Wenchow for Foochow aboard the British steamer Jason Monday.

Chinese were said to have a considerable military force in the Foochow-Nearby village area, and from Baker Nine Japanese warships were reported in the area.

Foochow, located on the Min River about 30 miles from the coast, is the capital of Fukien province and has a population of about 600,000. Wenchow, on the Ou River, is the capital of Chekiang province and has a population of about 200,000.

Foochow is the principal port of Fukien province and is the center of a rich agricultural area. Wenchow is the center of a rich agricultural area and is a port of call for coastwise steamers.

Foochow and Wenchow are the last major ports on the China coast open to foreign trade. Other ports, including Amoy, Canton, Swatow, Lungchi, Pakhoi and Lappa, have been closed by the Japanese.

1,300,000 POLES SET FOR WAR

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Field maneuvers involving more than 1,000,000 men would take place in Poland and Germany immediately after the signing of the non-aggression pact between Poland and Germany, it was reported today.

The pact, signed in 1934 by Hitler and Pilsudski, was to last 10 years. It was reported that the Polish government was planning to make it a permanent pact.

GERMAN GENERAL DIES

BERLIN, June 29 (AP)—Cavalry General Wilhelm Knoerzer, commanding general of the 44th Army Corps, is dead.

"Every inch of Polish soil is equally dear to us," he said.

"Of the territory which goes to make up this entity, Pomorze and the seacoast are basic elements.

"Upon them our political and economic independence depends. They are valued above price above the air and above the sun, to our existence as a state.

"Consciousness of this value exists in the hearts and minds of every Pole."

DOUBT CLASH DUE SOON

"The greater adversities encountered and the more immoral become external circumstances, the firmer is our determination and readiness to make even the greatest sacrifices so that Poland's outlet to the sea can be made to endure for all time."

In spite of [illegible] and [illegible] activity, [illegible] no German-Polish [illegible] is expected before late summer.

2 WOMEN RESCUE MAN GORED BY BULL IN R. I.

PURRILLVILLE, R. I., June 29—The heroism of two women who had a maddened bull at bay with pitchforks for 20 minutes and saved the life of a farmer was brought to light today, as the victim was recovering at his home here.

The farmer, George Nichols, 47, was released by the bull in his pasture and gored several times. As he lay helpless on the ground his wife and sister ran from the house snatching up pitchforks and chased off the bull. Then neighbors summoned by another woman rushed to the scene and carried the injured man to the house. He was later taken back to his home in Sutton, Mass., by Frank King, who had recently sold it to Nichols. Nichols, although seriously hurt, was reported improving.

New Low Round-Trip Fares

Beginning Friday, June 30th

The Longer the Ride... the Lower the Rate!

FARES GOOD IN BOTH COACHES AND PULLMANS!

REST AND ENJOY YOURSELF in a big, comfortable seat. Stroll about at will. Enjoy the scenes that flow swiftly past. You have that feeling of relaxation and freedom from responsibility!

NO LOST SLEEP... for this new economy travel makes it easy to enjoy the luxury of Pullman accommodations. Remember, there's a New Low Rate for upper berths, along with the low fares!

SAVE TIME, TOO! Your train keeps a fast steady pace... with no delays to make up, no traffic lights to wait for... no nerve-wracking traffic jams. Get aboard, take it easy... and Get There.

THE SAFE WAY is the Railway! In a big steel coach or Pullman, you know you're traveling in the safest way known! Not a moment of worry... the railroad's thousands of skilled, experienced workers take the responsibility!

EVERYBODY knows it's safer, faster and more comfortable to travel by train. Now pay less for it

All you do is buy a round-trip ticket. Whether you go a few miles or hundreds, you make substantial savings. The rate per mile decreases with distance!

This is true of Pullman as well as of coach travel... you save, however you go! In addition, there's a 10 per cent reduction in one-way rail and Pullman fares in upper berths.

With these new savings in safe, speedy train travel now available, why expose yourself to the heat and hazards of crowded highways?

Plan now to take advantage of these fare reductions in your Fourth of July week-end

Sues Wife Over Her 'Glad You're Not Here' Card

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—Suing for divorce, William Kaulbach offered as evidence in court a postcard he said his wife had sent him while vacationing in New Jersey.

The card bore a picture of a girl alighting from an automobile with a punctured tire and the caption:

"Giving a flat tire the air."

On the reverse side, he said, were penned the words:

"Having a grand time; glad you're not here."

made braided rugs and its brightly-curtained windows, there was little visible evidence of poverty.

Yet, according to Mrs. Thompson, she and her granddaughter have been living on a $5-a-week welfare allowance.

Widowed a year and a half ago, when her third husband, John Parker Thompson died, Mrs. Thompson should have received a government pension, she said.

Thompson served in the United States army and was injured in service by explosion of a gun, he had always told her, but her pension claim was held up for lack of [illegible] papers.

Among those who have [illegible] themselves in her behalf are United States Marshal John J. Murphy and former Middlesex District Attorney Warren L. Bishop.

Bishop's friendship for Mrs. Thompson began when, for 14 years, she was matron of the town infirmary at Wayland, his home community.

Veterans' organizations of Greater Boston also have pledged Mrs. Thompson their support.

7 Children Win Father Citizenship

NORTHAMPTON, June 29 (AP)—Judge David F. Dillon decreed today that Frank Netto had seven good reasons for being granted citizenship.

At a naturalization session, Judge Dillon asked Netto how many children he had. The latter said he had 10, including seven who were born in the United States.

"That's seven good reasons for citizenship," the judge remarked as he granted him papers.

THE National Safety Council [illegible] the useless use of fireworks [illegible]

"If history repeats itself, the Fourth of July this year will bring a countrywide catastrophe to the United States. Thousands will be injured or killed. Children will be maimed for life."

[illegible] support the [illegible] by all persons, by [illegible] particularly.

Last July, 8720 Americans were killed in accidents, more than twice as many as died in the [illegible] War.

Approximately one of every 200 persons was hurt in some [illegible] mishap.

More than 2720 met death on [illegible] roads, and scores who stayed at home lost their lives in fires from weak porch [illegible] and drownings in neighborhood lakes and rivers.

Despite widespread legislation against the sale of dangerous explosives, fireworks possessing the potency of dynamite appeared everywhere blinding hundreds of girls and boys, and causing infections which frequently ended in death.

[illegible] has changed his mind since May 23, when after [illegible] signing the [illegible] law, which requires a [illegible] 5 per cent of the gubernatorial [illegible] as saying:

"The repeal of the preprimary convention law two years ago emphasizes the faith of this State in the popular primary. In order to give this popular primary real effect with a maximum of civil liberties—in which I am a firm believer—the ballot must be simple, clear and reflect the true issues of the election.

"This can only be accomplished through protecting the ballot from being loaded with the names of candidates who have not been required to go through the popular primary, and who represent a very small fraction of the vote.

"Three per cent is far lower than in many other States. Ohio demands 15 per cent of the last vote for Governor; Oregon 5 per cent of the vote for Representatives; North Carolina, 10,000 signers, and North Dakota, 15,000 signers.

"Massachusetts' 3 per cent does not inflict undue hardship on the rights of any minority group."

Human Side of News -1- by EDWIN C. HILL

PREVIOUS to two years ago, spy cases prosecuted by the Department of Justice averaged 45 per year. In this [illegible] was [illegible] a ring of [illegible] a year.

Talking of [illegible] spies entered [illegible] and the world has increased [illegible] almost any other [illegible]

But the Department of Justice is [illegible]

AN ANNOUNCEMENT by Attorney General Murphy [illegible] at this writing is that J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is taking over the counter-espionage of the Department of Justice. That, of course, would have been advantageous a long time ago, but even so the news is reassuring. Past performance on the part of Mr. Hoover and his aides would indicate that the country won't be quite as safe for snoopers as it used to be.

Congress also has been jolted into action by the mounting index of spy activity. Legislation is being rushed to [illegible] sentences of from five to [illegible] years to [illegible] spies with fines up to $10,000 for proven espionage there will be a maximum sentence of 20 years.

The Senate Naval Affairs Committee [illegible] the grounds [illegible] the bill, finds disquieting "evidence of espionage not only in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone and on the Pacific Coast, but also on the Atlantic Coast and in the Gulf States as well." Army's intelligence service is aiding.

FOREIGN SPIES COME; "WELCOME" SIGN GOES
Guarded Military Defenses at Quantico, Va., Battery

Considering that the U. S. government is now tossing about $1,500,000,000 into defense expenditures, it is scarcely necessary to argue that a reasonable amount of this money should be spent to make sure that the whole program won't be hamstrung by a few furtive intruders with cameras and sharp pencils.

IN FACT although we intend to keep our shirt on and let this job go through channels, there's no reason why Uncle Sam shouldn't be a lot more grim-visaged on this job than has been his habit. He has been mighty casual about such business in the past—except in war time.

We were amateurs in counter-espionage when we went into the World War. The period was a carnival of foolishness and scare-mongering and whispering and wild-eyed romancing.

Out in Omaha, an innocent old professor of botany was shoved around a lot and almost went to jail because he had a defective light bulb in his study which flickered when anyone walked overhead. So the stories ran, almost every day.

With special public knowledge that the government has this spy business in hand, that the G-men are on the job and that in times of peace we had prepared for war would have prevented a great deal of this official and private nerve-twittering.

Political Parade -1- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON June 29. Democrats everywhere who have been taken to the top of a dazzling four billion dollar merry-go-round by Mr. Roosevelt and given a glimpse of a fake Promised Land, would do well to [illegible] the real scheme to buy the 1940 elections, in the light of what Mr. Raymond Moley is writing about the New Deal in the Saturday Evening Post.

Bankrupt of ideas as well as of money, the national debt at its legal limit, the New Deal now proposes a new way to get it and [illegible] a turnip and to eat one a cake and have it, too. All the ancient fakes!

Who is feeding this stuff to the President? Well, we don't exactly know who it is now, but Mr. Moley is revealing how, back in 1932, a self-liquidating brain trust, as it were, became busily engaged in feeding ideas to a man who had none himself, but absorbed those of others as a sponge sucks up water.

RAYMOND MOLEY
Is History Repeating Itself?

IF THIS WRITER reads Mr. Moley correctly, here is the tale, with some punches obviously pulled, recounted by one who was once of the inner circle, but long since quit in despair and disillusionment, of how the plot to repudiate and abandon the Democratic national platform of the Chicago convention was actually under way at the very moment the candidate was swearing up service to it.

The four billion dollar scheme has been sprung on Congress in the face of recent White House assurances to party leaders that the program for this year was all in, and that nothing more of a controversial character would be proposed.

Hence the four billion dollar scheme is a trick to start with.

But it is more than that. It is a bold move by the secret advisors of the President read Moley to [illegible] the [illegible] for us—to complete the ruin and havoc already wrought by the New Deal by plunging the nation headlong into Socialism.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS in Congress have already gone as far with Mr. Roosevelt as they can go without destroying their party.

One more step, and they will have committed the party of Jefferson and Cleveland to State Socialism, sustained by the votes of the extreme Left Wing, including Communism, and of several millions of enfranchised Negroes of the South.

That, too, is on the agenda. Read Mr. Roosevelt's Gainesville speech!

Once the new four billion dollar program is under way, in competition with private industry everywhere, and driving private industry to the wall, the Democratic Party, as such, will be dead, and the New Deal Socialist Party will have taken its place.

Can it be that Mr. Roosevelt hasn't checked up on anything handed to him by the inventors of the dazzling four billion dollar scheme?

Maybe he hasn't. But the time has come for the responsible Democratic leaders in Congress to do some checking up on their own account!

AUSTEN LAKE

Galento Today's Hero of Prize Ring

NEW YORK, June 29—Less than 12 minutes of clinical operating were all that Joe Louis needed to undo the six weeks which Tony Galento had put into his careful training.

A dozen minutes and Tony's stricken hulk lay on the ring floor at the Yankee Stadium, a harlequin smear on his face and squatting on his knees like a penitent sinner come to judgment. And yet before the bout ended with the aspects of a trunk murder Tony did something that only Max Schmeling and Jimmy Braddock have done before. He nailed Louis with his favorite punch, a looping left, that started close to the press row, and spraddled the champion on the heel of his gluteus maximus.

AUSTEN LAKE

Louis sprawled out like a newborn calf. And when he came up he went into a rubber-legged retreat, crab-walking backward and hiding his head in the crotch of his arms while Tony pursued like an obese bull frog, flogging rights and lefts.

[illegible] in that brief [illegible] was Louis "The Jungle Cat" "The Sepia Assassin" [illegible] Louis was just a flustered schoolboy with his fist stuck [illegible] in bewilderment, his brain reeling and a couple gone [illegible] his chuck.

A little more [illegible] in that swipe and Tony, the ludicrous human freeping who has been the butt of press ridicule, would have become the 13th champion since John L. Sullivan.

Indeed if the adipose barker had been fortunate enough to have clipped Louis with that haymaker in the first round before Tony's steam leaked through his pores he would have performed one of the most astounding miracles in ring history.

FOR HE HAD LOUIS SNIFFING ETHER in that opening stanza, with the harpoon grabbing his pudgy person and trying to recall what the boys said about situations like this. That third round sock delivered then would probably have written finis for the Louis legend.

The Negro was clearly puzzled by the stumpy fat man's style. He pocked cautiously flicking his left [illegible] away, shaping carefully and not rushing to meet his fate. It was the story of an uneasy conscience [illegible] an apprehensive mind.

But suddenly in the second round Louis saw his chance. He shot over [illegible] rights and lefts that [illegible] Tony like a rag doll which had lost its sawdust the eyes that had been treated with tissue-hardening [illegible] literally before the fight [illegible] a pitiful look as a morsel of meat does when exposed to the cur on the [illegible].

And though Tony [illegible] the rest of the round was just fun in the shelter and he reached his corner like an inebriated [illegible] on shore [illegible] his feet as though wading in mud.

THE END SEEMED INEVITABLE THEN. For, though Tony's

As a cigar smoker HOW WOULD YOU RATE YOURSELF?

NUMBER 3 is always shifting around among brands . . . hasn't found a cigar to suit him yet. Gives up one because it's too strong—the next one because it's too flat. Keeps on switching. Certainly he doesn't get all the enjoyment he should out of smoking

NUMBER 2 is always chasing rainbows . . . cigars that bring out new features to help them sell better—not necessarily smoke any better. One time he goes for a "new shape"; another time, a "new Havana Blend"; or a "price reduction" or a "new package".

You can't expect him to get a lot of satisfaction out of smoking. The very fact they make the changes proves those kinds of cigars don't suit real smokers.

NUMBER 1 is the typical Phillies smoker. He knows he is getting the top in quality and enjoyment from Phillies because Phillies suits him perfectly, just as it does millions of other men.

He knows that Phillies doesn't make changes—or bring out new selling features—because smokers, themselves, have proved that Phillies is just right by walking up to cigar counters, day after day, and laying down more money for Phillies than for any other brand at any price.

Foxx Threatened With Appendicitis

By JOE CASHMAN

Suffering from what has every symptom of being an appendicitis attack, Jimmy Foxx was again a patient in St. Elizabeth's Hospital today as his Red Sox mates returned to the Fens to open a two-game series with the shell-shocked Athletics of Philadelphia.

His ailment diagnosed as a minor form of stomach poisoning by Washington doctors when he was stricken in the Capital on Tuesday last, Foxx was so ill reaching Boston last night that he had to be carried off the train in a stretcher and rushed by ambulance to the Cardinal O'Connell House, where Dr. Eddie O'Brien announced the appendicitis findings.

The Sox physician, however hastened to add that he didn't think an operation would be necessary.

"I found Foxx to have a temperature of 99.4," stated Dr. O'Brien, "and to be suffering from a pain localized in the right side. The area in the vicinity of the appendix was tender and sore.

"Ice packs have been applied to his right side and he's been ordered to remain in bed until further notice. It will be several days before he can play again but, from present indications, an operation won't be necessary."

JIMMY SICK BOY

"Double X" himself was too ill to talk on his arrival but Manager Joe Cronin revealed that Washington physicians had assured the Sox slugger that his trouble was due to something he had eaten and that he'd be o. k. in a day or two.

This is Foxx' second visit to the Cardinal O'Connell House this season. He was confined there for about a week early last month as a result of a sinus attack.

Unaware of the seriousness of Foxx' condition at the time, Cronin didn't know whether he should change or man over Sox happenings during the three-day visit to Washington.

Boss Joe had lost the services of his homerun king and had been forced to swing the mailed fist for the first time this season to plaster a suspension on Jim Tabor, rookie third-sacker, for breaking training rules, but he also had experienced the thrill of seeing a make-shift Fenway lineup, back of Mose Grove and Elden Auker, plaster the Senators with two coats of whitewash

RAIN HALTS SOX SURGE

Fred "Lefty" Ostermueller was all set to try to make it three shutouts in a row yesterday until rain came along to wash out the scheduled tilt.

Today, Fritz now must wait until the Yanks get here Saturday before he gets a chance to pitch again for Cronin has decided to send Jack Wilson against the A's this p. m. and let Emerson Dickman start his first game of the season on the morrow.

The Fenway foreman announced that Tabor, sent home from Washington on Monday, would be permitted to get into uniform again today but would not return to the lineup.

"Boze' Berger will remain on third base," said Joe, "and Lou Finney will spell Foxx at first base. I don't know how Bobby Doerr has progressed during our absence, but I imagine Tommy Carey will stay at second base through today's game at least."

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, June 29—There is talk that Joe Louis will meet Bob Pastor in Detroit in September, and that the Louis-Nova bout will be saved for next year . . . Mike Jacobs has decided that Detroit is hot for a championship bout while the Louis management naturally favor a championship contest in their home town. Louis and Pastor will draw $600,000 in Detroit.

Detroit had an advance sale of $100,000 for a Schmeling-Sharkey bout when the German took the boat back home in 1929 . . . Jack Kearns will have a finger in the pie if the Louis-Pastor tussle goes to Detroit . . . So will Jim Norris who owns the Detroit Olympia as well as the Chicago stadium.

Norris tried to knock off Pastor with Maurice Strickland in Chicago . . . It cost him $5000 to find out he had Strickland over-rated . . . Norris will more than get even if he lands the Louis-Pastor match.

Walter Brown of the Boston Garden was in the press row . . . Walter believes that boxing will stage a come-back in Boston as soon as the fans are given the right kind of an attraction . . . I quite agree with the youthful Boss of the Garden-Arena combine.

District-Attorney Bill Foley and George Freeman dropped down from Boston to see the Louis-Galento action . . . Both felt Louis was a cinch to win . . . Bill has a 15-year-old boy at Boston College who weighs 175 pounds, and looks as if he will develop into a great ball player . . . Bill wants the youngster to specialize in catching in view of the fact there are few first class receivers . . . Professional baseball still offers great opportunities for boys desiring an athletic career.

Dan Carroll Looking for New Heavyweight

Dan Carroll was at the ringside and admitted he was looking for a new heavyweight . . . Dan believes there is still plenty of money in top flight heavyweights . . . Jim Maloney, Carroll's former protege, is working at Alex Finn's International Casino . . . The International Casino is profiting as a result of the large crowds in New York to see the World's Fair.

I visited the World's Fair. The General Motor's exhibit is still the talk of the fair . . . Thousands wait in line for more than an hour in order to see the highways as the engineers depict them as looking in 1960 . . . Speeds of 90 miles an hour were mentioned very casually, while one turns from one highway into another at a mere speed of 50 miles an hour . . . Not a traffic cop on the place.

The legs gave out after doing five miles of road work at the Fair, and I boarded one of the sight-seeing buses . . . This gives one a good idea as to what to expect . . . Austen Lake spent the day looking at some of the foreign exhibits and trying on $100 Panama hats which can be bought for $30 . . . Austen plans to take the matter of the purchase of one of these hats up with his bankers and Mrs. Lake.

The best way to get to the Fair is by the Pennsylvania Railroad which drops you inside of the grounds . . . Just like they do at the race tracks in New England . . . Bill Hayes, an old baseball writer in Chicago, is Christy Walsh's "right eye" in handling the visiting firemen of the press.

Newsmen have their pictures taken and they are attached to their press passes which are signed in the presence of Bill Hayes . . . This prevents others from using newspaper passes.

Ball parks could prevent some of their present annoyance in regard to passes by using this system of identifying the holders of passes . . . It could also be used on working press tickets at the race tracks which would help make matters easier for agents of the Department of Internal Revenue . . . I know that most newspaper people would also be relieved if they knew it was impossible for them to loan their press credentials.

Plenty of Room in New York Hotels

Jim Flood and Jabe Beebe at the Edison Hotel report a brisk business, but declared there have not been any sellouts at the New York hotels . . . They say many out-of-town people have been frightened by stories that the hotels have packed up their rates as a result of the Fair.

These stories, declare Flood and Beebe, are not true . . . I did note a slight lifting of the food prices at some of the better places along Broadway . . . At the Fair one can eat at reasonable prices.

I had a 75 cent luncheon which was the equal of many a $1.25 luncheon in Boston.

They still sell frankfurts at 10 cents a crack at the Fair, while you can get cold drinks for a nickel . . . There are, of course, floss spots in the Fair where they give you a little local anesthetic before handing you the check so as to relieve the pain, but when you walk into those spots you do so with your eyes open.

Most of the places in the Fair have their prices where you can see them before entering.

It only costs a dime to ride to the Fair by the Pennsylvania while the subway charge is a nickel . . . It was New Jersey Day at the Fair . . . They sent over everything from Jersey but a pari-mutuel machine . . . Along Broadway the argument is being advanced that pari-mutuel betting in New York will put thousands of honest bookmakers and their agents on relief, and pour the betting wealth into the laps of a few . . .

One radical speaker declared that if New York is to have legalized betting that the state should operate the tracks and take all the profits . . . Tom Thorp's name is being mentioned in connection with Jersey and New York racing . . .

Tom is generally regarded as the best racing official in the country by people who know in both of these states . . . New England will have to fight to retain Thorp's services.

I met Damon Runyon at the ringside of the big fight . . . Damon thinks it will be a mistake to replace the bookmakers by the mutuels . . . Damon has contributed his share of the support of bookmakers down through the years, and has also been kind to the mutuels like you and me . . . Bill Corum, another lively race track bettor, says that whether bookmakers or mutuels run the show he will still have his share of losing tickets.

There were few out-of-towners in Jack Dempsey's the night before the bout which proved that it was a home town show . . . most of the crowd came from New York and Jersey.

U. S. Horse 2d In Wales Stake At Newmarket

NEWMARKET, Eng., June 29 (AP)—The Earl of Derby's Hellopolis, three-year-old son of Hyperion, today won the Princess of Wales Stake over one and a half miles, defeating Marshall Field's Comptroller by three lengths.

Lord Milford's Challenge trailed the American-owned Comptroller by a short head for third place in the field of eight. Hellopolis was the odds-on-favorite at 4 to 6 while Field's horse was held at 100 to 8 and Challenge at 20 to 1.

Latonia Stages Twilight Races

LATONIA, Ky., June 29 (AP)—Bowing to a demand for greater patronage, 57-year-old Latonia "goes modern" today with a program of twilight racing.

Eleven horses were named for the Latonia inaugural, mile-and one-sixteenth feature of the card first of a 27-day meet.

COLLEGE GOLF ACES BOW

DES MOINES, June 29 (AP)—Last year's stars, with the exception of Bert McDowell of Louisiana State, were on the sidelines today as national collegiate tournament golfers tackled the last two rounds of match play before the semi-finals.

When the firing over Wakonda's hill ceases by dusk tonight the present field of 16 championship hopefuls will be down to four.

Two 36-hole battles are on tomorrow's schedule, and the finals Saturday also will be over the 36-hole route.

McDowell, who was beaten on the 37th green of the 1938 title match at Louisville, is the only member of last year's select quartet to get by the second round here. Out of the picture are Johnny Burke of Georgetown, defending champion, Lewis Oehmig of Virginia, and Robert Babbish of Detroit, who reached the next-to-the-last round a year ago.

Also eliminated were such favorites as Sid Richardson of Northwestern, the medalist, Ed Meister of Yale, Henry Castillo of Louisiana State, and others.

Stepping up into the vacant places on the pedestals were Warren Berl of Stanford, who is just one over par for 72 holes, Neil Croonquist of Minnesota, who shot a barn-burner of a 31 on the first nine yesterday, Art Floberg of Beloit and John Hayes of Marquette.

Indianapolis Seeks Hockey Franchise

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—A surprise application from Indianapolis for membership in the International-American Hockey League for the 1939-40 season was the high spot of proceedings as the governors of the International-American Hockey Leagues held separate meetings.

The Indianapolis application was backed by James Norris, Louis Giffels and Arthur Wirtz, owners of the National League's Detroit Red Wings, with which the new team would be affiliated.

seconds freshened him up and closed his wounds with anti-bleed powder, he went out like an early Christian about to be devoured by Nero's lions. The crowd's shout that greeted him was less in delight at the prospect of prolonging the savage sight than it was an ovation for Tony's courage in volunteering for further torture.

Louis shuffled out after the fashion of a headsman with a trifling execution to perform. No emotion ruffled his calm. No baring of fangs or eager puckering of the lips. Just the chill approach of a predatory beast about to bag its dinner. Even in his fog Tony knew what to expect. Too often he had administered such mercy strokes.

But he was not a man to face his fate with quiet resolution. Before he accepted his dose he gathered together all the crumbs of his strength and stood in close to fan Louis with awkward swipes that ended in the looping left which almost hit the Big Casino. A sucking sigh rose from the crowd as though from the winter wind passing through an apple orchard. Louis was down.

Louis was up with spaghetti legs. Louis was limp on the ropes. But Tony lacked stamina for the final kill.

THE END CAME QUITE SIMPLY IN THE FOURTH ROUND. Louis seemed to have recovered his poise and confidence, and began shooting lefts and rights at Tony's head, left exposed by the gradual drooping of his heavy arms. Tony floundered into a clinch, hugging Louis' gloves and feeling for the floor with his feet.

But the Negro shook him loose and measured him as coldly as a master tailor fits a finicky customer for a winter overcoat, knocking him backward against the ropes so that he slid down each successive strand until he lay half out of the ring, with his feet over the press tables while Referee Arthur Donovan stretched above him like a Salvationist bringing a penitent to the bar of mercy.

No need to count: Donovan's practiced eye recognized the symptoms and he just beckoned Tony's bucket crew to come in and collect the remains.

Wisps of damp hair hung over Tony's features as he was trundled to his corner. There was a milky glaze over his one visible eyeball. The loose flesh of his torso hung in candle drips over his purple tights.

And his face was more a series of purple hillocks than a human countenance devisely fashioned. So, after a brief convalescence, he wobbled across the scaffold and, not unmindful of the social amenities of the occasion, fumbled for the hand of his Negro victor.

Then he staggered down the ring ladder and through an applauding lane—a courageous curio who, though beaten and battered, had lost nothing in the affections of the fight crowd.

Two Charlestown Teams Clash

Local Charlestown rivalry will be manifested tonight at Barry Playground when the two Boston Park League entries play in the feature of four games carded for tonight.

The Navy Yard A. A., after coming from behind last night and edging Star of the Sea in the final frame, 7-6, stacks up against Joe McCarthy's St. Catherine's Club.

Star of the Sea is at home at American Legion Park in East Boston to the Holy Name crew from Roslindale, and after last night's upset Harry Doherty will probably send Larry Hess after the Namers.

The Murphy Club of Brighton goes to Garvey Field in Neponset where the Dick Casey crew awaits them, and in the windup St. Augustine's appear at Healey Field to do battle with the Roslindale Town Club.

Nelson Equals 17-Year-Old Mark

WORCESTER, Mass., Jun 29 (AP)—Byron Nelson, national open golf champion, equalled a 17-year-old course record as he and Ellie Ogg of Worcester defeated Jug McSpaden, Winchester, and Art Gusa, home club pro, 2 and 1, in an exhibition match at the Tatuck Country Club here today.

Nelson shot a 34—33—67, losing a chance for a new record on the tenth when his tee shot caned into a pond.

Hostak on Trail Of Fred Apostoli

SEATTLE, June 29 (AP)—The two currently reigning middleweight boxing champions may battle each other for the championship one of these days.

Al Hostak of Seattle, who regained his middleweight title recognized by the National Boxing Association—last night from Sly Krieger of Brooklyn, said he wants to fight Freddie Apostoli, recognized as the champion by the boxing commissions of New York and California.

MONEY TO LOAN

MONEY TO LOAN

NOW! A NEW LOAN PLAN

Pick your own monthly repayment

You can borrow from $20 to $300 without asking others to sign with you. Decide on the amount of cash you need, then choose the payment which suits your budget. You may repay in 2 to 20 months, as your income permits. Below is a table showing sample repayment schedules. Other amounts and other plans are available. Note how you may repay your loan in a very few months to keep the cost to a minimum. Note, also, what small payments can be made if you wish.

Amount of monthly payments, including all charges for the following periods.

Cash You Get	2 mos.	4 mos.	6 mos.	8 mos.	10 mos.	12 mos.	16 mos.	20 mos.
$ 50	$25.94	$13.29	$ 9.08	$ 6.97	$ 5.71	$ 4.87
100	51.88	26.58	18.15	13.95	11.43	9.75	$ 7.66	$ 6.41
150	77.82	39.87	27.23	20.92	17.14	14.62	11.49	9.62
200	103.77	53.16	36.31	27.89	22.85	19.50	15.32	12.83
300	155.65	79.75	54.46	41.84	34.28	29.25	22.98	19.24

This table is based on prompt repayment. Larger payments can be made at any time or in advance of the due date to reduce the cost. Tardiness will increase the cost of the final payment. Payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% per month which is less than the lawful maximum.

THE TWO-TON PUNCH THAT TUMBLED LOUIS

1. Tony Lands—Tony Galento covers himself with glory at Yankee Stadium, New York, and scores a jolting left to Champion Joe Louis' midsection . . . and another to the jaw.

2. Rubber Legs—As experts gasped, magic eye camera continues to click and Heavyweight Champion Louis finds his legs gone rubbery . . . and he's on his way to the canvas.

3. Down!—A thump heard 'round the world is this . . . Joe Louis on the canvas . . . slammed there by the lethal left of beer-bellied Tony Galento . . . clown of the bierstubs.

4. Bubble Bursts—Hardly a count before Louis was up . . . but some of the fabled tradition departed from the champion when this pix was taken . . . the champ can be "had."
